The Miracles of Jesus In the Gospels | HopeFaithPrayer

The "gifts of healings" and "workings of miracles" in 1 Corinthians 12:9-10 are not limited to Jesus and the apostles. In fact the New Testament never describes the ability of Jesus and the apostles to work miracles as "the gift of healing" or "the gift of miracles."

Gifts of Healings and Workings of Miracles | Desiring God

Although many receive Christ without needing to see a healing or a miracle, there are also many who do need to see or experience something supernatural before they will believe. Even one of Jesus' twelve apostles, when told the others had seen the Lord risen from the dead, said, "Unless I see the nail marks in his hands and put my finger where the nails are, and put my hand into his side, I will not believe it" (John 20:25 NIV).

Healings and miracles are still for today

A healing miracle is only temporary. The person healed will eventually die but the one that is born-again has inherent eternal life that can never be lost and that person can live with God for eternity, never to die again (John 3:16). Those who call themselves or are called by others as "faith healers" are not biblical in any sense.

Does God Still Work Miracles Today?

A final point should be made showing the difference between miracles and healings in the New Testament. Stanley H. Horton states that miracles are direct interventions in the world of man and nature which are distinguished from healings.¹³ If healings refer to the miraculous work of God in the human body, then the working of miracles refer to
