Hello all, I'm new here and this is my first post. I have an MV-55 with Fanuc 11M controls. I have been having intermittent problems with the tool changer lately. One problem has been the tool does not unlock from the spindle at times. The arm clamps to the tool holder and then as it moves down to remove it from the spindle, the arm will slip off and continue the tool change.

Mori-Seiki MV-55! It is bigger than it looks, actually hangs over the trailer. Was 114" wide. I could have pulled the surround off of it but that is a really big pain, all the seams are sealed and bolted under piles of chips. I was really nervous about the beam in the last pic. On skates it just cleared by 1.5".
